

MORA THERAPY

Mora therapy is a German electronic modality that can be used for both testing and therapy. I use it here, in this clinic, for sensitivity desensitizing. It uses no external voltages, currents or frequencies. It works with the micro electromagnetic information of the patient's own body. This information can be retrieved from specific body areas using hand held electrodes. It is modified by the Mora Therapy unit through filters and amplifying systems, then sent back to the body. Before being sent back to the body, pathological oscillations are inverted, causing their elimination from the body. To invert means to reverse, in other words to convert an oscillation electronically into its mirror image, which means into its own counter oscillation. The physiologic oscillation information are those oscillations that build up and strengthen the body. They are sent back to the patient's body unmodified, but amplified.

Mora therapy is my first choice of treatment in the case of sensitivities. I use it to desensitize any of the items I test for, as well as any items you might bring from home that may be causing you problems. The treatment is 100% non-invasive, safe and pain free and can be completed in just a few minutes while you are in the office. A desensitizing serum will also be prepared for you to take at home to keep the treatment boosted and working over the long term.

IMPORTANT

MORA THERAPY WILL PRECIPITATE TOXINS. IT IS IMPORTANT TO DRINK 2 TO 3 LITRES OF WATER DAILY FOR THE NEXT 3 TO 4 DAYS AFTER TREATMENT.
